

Today is “National Do Nothing Day.” If you could invent your own day, what would it be called? What would you want people to do on your special day?